PREZ'S PRINCIPLES

Wanted: New prospective members for a local aviation group that is growing in great dimensions. Come on board and experience aviation at all levels. No aviation qualification minimums to meet.

There, have we given you some ideas for recruiting new members? Use your own lines. This month is kind of quiet, and people seek out new things to belong to or do. Step up to the cockpit and sell yourself and our chapter; invite new prospective members.

We have the mall show on February 20th – 22nd. Sign up to help haul kits and planes to the mall on Thursday night, February 19th. Sign up to help promote aviation and the chapter at all levels.

If you can't make the meeting, give one of the chapter officers a call to give your level of commitment.

Also, we are starting the planning and layout for the 2005 pancake breakfast. Give Dennis Winkel some support and commitment. Come out and see "what's cookin'" at the next chapter meeting.

WARNING THE DANGERS OF SUPER GLUE

Always wear eye protection when working with Super Glue. Cyanoacrylate is an acrylic resin that cures (forms its strongest bond) almost instantly. The only trigger it requires is the hydroxylions in water. As everyone knows, your eyeballs are always wet. If Super Glue gets in your eye, there is no way to repair the damage.

PACKERS LOSE BUT EAA CHAPTER 897 WINS AT OUR ANNUAL BANQUET

While the Packers played on televisions provided by the Beaver Dam Country Club, 52 dinners were served at our EAA Chapter 897 banquet. Dinner was served family style. Beef, chicken, potatoes and gravy, vegetables, coffee, and dessert were plentiful and delicious. After dinner, everything was put on hold so we could watch the game. After the game, guest speaker, Ron Scott, told of his start with EAA and how he designed and built the first composite homebuilt in EAA. Ron Described how he built “OLE IRONSIDES” and Ron’s wife, Lois, added color to Ron’s descriptions.

Ron Scott speaks at the banquet

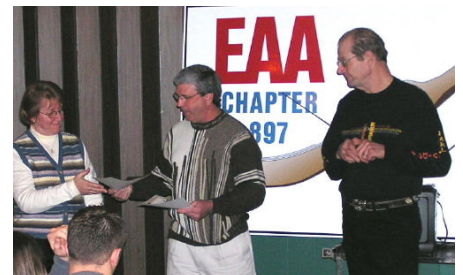

Before dinner everyone watched the Packer game.

Dick Siedschlag, past treasurer, hands the books over to new treasurer, Glenn Ingram.

Ron Romans asked questions provided by Paul Poberezny for prizes

President, Dick Blawusch, presented Young Eagle awards to Linda Ludtke and Don Woods.

Members generously donated items for the silent auction. The chapter made over $400 from the auction.

Fifty two members of EAA Chapter 897’s family ate their fill at the banquet. Paul Poberezny planned to attend, but his wife, Audrey, took sick and Paul needed to stay home with her.
